Dear Miss Richey:

After you left the building, I had leisure to look up that Athenian coin, and also the next day showed it to an expert. I regret to advise that we found the coin to be a modern counterfeit made by a Greek, named Christodoulos, some years ago. Under the circumstances, the piece has no value.

I shall be at the Museum on Saturday (tomorrow) and any day next week except Monday.

Regretting that I am unable to send you a better report with regard to the coin,

Very truly yours,

Curator
